Explanation: Change Gen Ed MATH requirement FROM MTHSC 101/203 TO MTHSC 101, 102, 106, or 108 and MTHSC 203 or 301 or EX ST 301. This change gives the department more flexibility for accepting transfers and still requires a statistics course.
Catalog Description and Curriculum Map

Sociology
The Sociology major offers two degree programs: a bachelor of arts and a bachelor of science. Both degrees prepare students for a variety of professional careers related to human resources, management, public relations, social services, criminal justice, health services, social research, and other people-oriented positions in the public and private sector. In addition, the Bachelor's degree provides excellent preparation for graduate training in sociology, social services, law, and business. Both degrees require a total of 121 semesters hours, including 34 credit hours in sociology and/or anthropology, as identified below. Courses used to fulfill General Education Requirements may be used to fulfill minor requirements.

Emphasis Areas in Sociology
Community Studies — SOC 331, (R S) 459, (R S) 495; and nine credits from all courses offered in Anthropology or sociology not already taken to fulfill requirements.

Criminal Justice — SOC 388, 389; nine credits selected from SOC 391, 392, 396, 397, 491, 493, 494 (R S) 495; and three credits from all courses offered in anthropology or sociology not already taken to fulfill requirements.

General Sociology — 18 credit hours selected from all courses offered in anthropology or sociology not already taken to fulfill requirements.

Social Services — SOC 380, 414, (R S) 495; and nine credits from all courses offered in anthropology or Sociology not already taken to fulfill requirements.

At least 12 of the total credits must be from 400 level sociology, rural sociology, and/or anthropology courses; no more than nine credit hours may be taken in courses at the 100 or 200 level, except with approval of the department chair. Additional electives are added to meet the minimum of 121 hours required for graduation.

Substance Abuse Certificate Program

The Substance Abuse Certificate Program is an interdisciplinary program drawn from courses in sociology, education, health, and psychology. Students study the causes, consequences, prevention, treatment of substance abuse. They also study delivery systems and policy issues associated with legal and illicit substances. Through field placement, students come face-to-face with the problem and gain practical experience to prepare them to enter the field of practicing specialists. The credential requires knowledge in theory and treatment of substance abuse problems.

Completion of the Substance Abuse Certificate Program requires ED C 234, HLTH 301, PSYCH 375, SOC 380, 396, 397, (R S) 495.
