Introduction

Purpose
The purpose of this document is to provide an overview of the various programs and benefits for which faculty and staff members in specific position categories and types may be eligible. Because eligibility is not determined solely by position category or type, it is recommended that faculty and staff members reference applicable policy and plan documents for program specifics and benefits eligibility details. Faculty and staff members must adhere to all program terms and conditions. Please contact the Office of Human Resources (OHR) to discuss any questions.

This guidance does not create policy. The Clemson University Policy and Procedure Manual is the source of record for policies applicable to all faculty and staff positions. Faculty positions are further governed by the Clemson University Faculty Manual.

Categories of Positions

Position Categories

Faculty/Academic: Positions carrying faculty status that provide teaching, research, public service, librarianship, and/or administrative support to University programs.

Staff: Non-faculty positions, either classified or unclassified, that provide support to University programs through administration, information technology, accounting, engineering, custodial, food service, and craftwork.

Position Types

Each of the position types described below can apply to either the faculty or staff position category.

Full Time Equivalent (FTE): A position that is authorized by the general assembly. These positions represent regular employees.

Temporary Time-Limited Project (TLP): A non-FTE position funded by a contract or other special project. As its name implies, the temporary time-limited position is only viable as long as the contract is in force or other special project is active.

Temporary Grant (TGP): A non-FTE position funded by an approved grant for the duration of the grant.

Intermittent (INT): A non-FTE position used to manage periodic, sporadic, or occasional work needs. The work is recurring or reappearing now and then, irregular, during isolated instances, unpredictable, or work that stops and starts at intervals.

Temporary (TMP): A position that will not exceed twelve (12) months in duration and is used to offset increased work demands or a special project.

Performance Increase

For nonexempt employees, deans and vice presidents may elect to pay overtime wages or to grant compensatory time for all hours worked in excess of 40 in a given workweek. The decision will be based on the work needs and budget of the department. Overtime must be pre-approved by the supervisor, but while failure to obtain pre-approval may be the basis for disciplinary action, it may not be the basis for withholding overtime compensation or compensatory time.

Benefits
This section provides an overview of the benefits – insurance, retirement, leave and additional benefits offered – that are available to faculty members in temporary and intermittent positions. The information below does not provide guidance on selecting or enrolling in benefit programs. Additionally, eligibility is not solely determined by position category or type. Program and benefit details are provided in the applicable policy or plan document. Employees are advised to refer to these documents and speak with a benefits counselor in the Office of Human Resources (OHR) regarding the benefit programs available to them as well as the program details.

State Health Insurance Package
Eligibility for the state health insurance package is determined per the South Carolina Public Employee Benefit Authority (PEBA) and the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA).

Full-time employees (standard hours of ≥30): Faculty members with 30 hours or more weekly standard hours and who are reasonably expected by Clemson University to work 30 or more hours per week on average over a designated 12-month period are eligible for the state health insurance package. Should an employee’s work hours fall below 30 hours per week, eligibility will be reevaluated based on expectation of future work hours and prior work history with Clemson University.

Variable hour and part-time employees (standard hours of <30): Faculty members who work less than 30 weekly standard hours and who are not reasonably expected by Clemson University to work 30 or more hours per week on average over a designated 12-month period are not eligible for the state health insurance package. Should an employee’s work hours increase, eligibility will be reevaluated based on expectation of future work hours and prior work history with Clemson University.

Non-State Insurance Programs
Faculty members in temporary and intermittent positions are eligible to seek enrollment in non-state insurance programs provided through Clemson University. Non-state insurance programs are voluntary, and faculty members may elect to enroll, change or end participation at any time.

Faculty members approaching retirement are offered retiree insurance counseling by OHR to include general information and assistance with retiree insurance applications; however, the final determination regarding an employee’s eligibility to continue state insurance into retirement is made by PEBA.

An individual may be eligible for health, dental and vision coverage in retirement if, 1) he/she retires from an employer who participates in the state insurance program, 2) he/she is eligible to retire when

Faculty members in temporary and intermittent positions who do not have funds on file with the South Carolina Retirement System may elect to not participate in a state retirement plan. An employee who waives participation is no longer eligible to participate in a plan unless the employee transfers to a full-time equivalent (FTE) position or experiences a break in employment.
