Clemson Second Summer Session Program in Cordoba, Argentina (6-week Spanish Language and Culture Program)

It’s a well-known fact that the Spanish language is the second most spoken in the world. Then, why not learn it where it’s used? Become part of our program to improve your level of Spanish, build your confidence to use Spanish in everyday communication and in formal contexts plus get a well-rounded knowledge of the Argentinean culture and society as a whole.

LOCATION
The campus is in Arguello, a residential neighborhood of Córdoba, the second largest city in Argentina. In addition, it is know as “La Docta” (from the latin docere, meaning “to teach”), because it is home to more than 130,000 students from Argentina and around the world who seek to gain not only academic knowledge but also cultural immersion.

THIS UNFORGETTABLE EXPERIENCE INCLUDES
• 6 Clemson credits
• Clemson Resident Director
• Transportation from the Cordoba International Airport to the university campus.
• Accommodation with an Argentine host family, which includes three meals per day and laundry service
• Free access to all campus facilities (library, cafeteria, weight-lifting room, tennis courts, etc.)
• City Tour
• Health insurance (www.osde.com.ar)
• Welcome lunch
• Farewell party
• Argentine tutor that orients the student around the city and on campus
• Excursion to the Hills
• Latin-American Rhythms lessons and Cultural Workshop (Argentine traditional cuisine, Folklore music and dances, Horse-back riding lessons, among other activities.)
