

In Touch

Vol. 19, No. 15 October 6, 2000

Clemson University Libraries - Clemson, SC 29634

Break for Fall

Please drop-in (come out on the balcony)
and enjoy a wonderful morning break. Enjoy the cool, fall, morning breezes. Enjoy classical music.

Yuji Kishimoto, professor of architecture, has graciously agreed to play his 10-string classical guitar from 10:00 to 10:30 a.m. Professor Kishimoto plays a number of musical instruments and has played at many special events on campus over the years including: solo concerts in Daniel Auditorium, meetings of the Board of Trustees, Calhoun House events, Spring Jubilee at the South Carolina Botanical Garden, and the International Festival. He also played at the Peace Center in Greenville, when it first opened.

Fresh bagels from the Bagel Shop, donuts, and hot/cold drinks will be served.

Sponsored by the Social and Recognition Group.

On the Cooper Balcony

Wednesday, October 11

10:00-11:00 a.m.

Food!
Drink!
MUSIC!

It was another great Book Sale

Thanks volunteers!

President Barker helps out

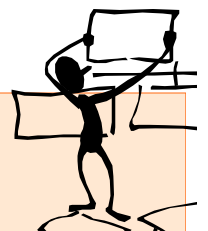

Get Ready!
Get Set!

TYGER Award

Thanks to Juanita Clinkscales, Betty Cook, Fran Simmons, and Isaac Wallace for helping me with publicity of the Book Sale. Especially the distribution of material. Their feet were a lifesaver. And special thanks to Sue Hiott, her notes from last year's publicity were invaluable. -Lauren Young

FREE!

Mat Board Scraps

I have several boxes of scrap pieces of colored mat board and some scrap pieces of foam core available to anyone who wants to come to Special Collections to get it. Anything remaining will be thrown out after October 15th. —Sue Hiott

Get them today

Are you looking for a great Christmas gift? I have been selling night shirts for my church as a fundraiser to purchase an ice-maker. I have some regular sizes left with different logos and colors. The cost is $8.00. Please come by the office today if you're interested.

Thanks to those of you who have purchased a shirt - we have a great start on our ice-maker fund!

—Amy Armstrong

OCTOBER BIRTHDAYS

2 Vicki Schmid

4 Pat Henderson

8 Joyce Stokes

10 Bev Rainey

16 Judy Moore

18 Laurie Varenhorst

19 Mary Lynn Moon

21 Sue Hiott

21 Peg Tyler

22 Pat Menzies

22 Sheryle Place

26 Alisha Maw

26 Fran Simmons

29 Janice Prater

30 Pat Godwin

The South Carolina Archival Association

Annual Meeting Scheduled for October 26

The South Carolina Archival Association will hold its annual meeting in Columbia at the South Carolina Department of Archives and History on October 26. The theme for the meeting is "Challenges and Issues for the New Century." Keynote speaker will be Alexia Jones Helsey, director of special projects at SCDAH, and author of a new book "South Carolina Slave Faces." Registration is $50 which includes lunch. (The lunch is really good!)

To register and for more details, please visit the SCAA website at www.state.sc.us/scdah/scaa.htm

SCSEA Annual Legislative BBQ Dinner

Get your red-hot tickets!

Mark your calendar! Tuesday, November 14, 2000, is your once-a-year opportunity to come meet your upstate legislators up close and personal. The Clemson University Chapter of the South Carolina State Employees Association will hold its Annual Legislative BBQ Dinner at Just More BBQ in Pendleton at 6:30 p.m. Tickets (They're actually orange.) are $5 in advance or $8 at the door. The meal is delicious and a bargain to boot. Plus, you get to discuss your personal concerns and/or priorities with your state legislators and senators. There will also be a legislative agenda update on SCSEA recommendations and a drawing for door-prizes. Contact Betty Cook in the Architecture Library at celizab or 656-3933. —Betty Cook, Clemson Chapter President

Employee Training and Development Group Newsletter

HR Highlight: Although we are not offering the Supervisory Skills class, if you are interested, you may go to <http://virtual.clemson.edu/groups/humanres/open.htm> and click on October 18th to view a class description. Registration is open to the university and you may register from this site. Let me know if I can help.

Improving Workplace Relations: On October 11th from 9:00 to 11:00 am, Barbara Foltz (who you may remember from the Time Management seminar) will teach a seminar on "how to approach and deal with situations that cause bad attitudes on the job. This program teaches the basic needs for dealing with attitudes" in the workplace. This class will be located in the 3rd floor classroom. If you would like to sign up for this class, then please contact Rhoda Roper at rroper@clemson.edu.

Introduction to PowerPoint: On October 18th from 1:30 to 4:30 pm, Roc McCaskill, from DCIT, will teach an introductory PowerPoint class. The class will include how to put text and images on slides, how to set and change backgrounds for presentations, and how to run a slide show. This class will be held in Brackett hall. If you would like to sign up for this class, then please contact me at dianab@clemson.edu.

Self Esteem and Peak Performance: A class focusing on "maintaining self esteem while, at the same time, exploring methods that will allow employees to be more productive on the job" will be taught by Larry Abernathy (which many of you know as the mayor of Clemson). The class will be on October 25th from 1:00 to 2:00 pm in the 3rd floor classroom. If you are interested in registering for this class, then please contact Rhonda Roper at rroper@clemson.edu.

For questions, comments, or suggestions, please contact Suzanne Rook (rook@clemson.edu) or Diana Bourgeois (dianab@clemson.edu)