

CLEMSON COLLEGE SERIES. 1903-1907, .15 cu. ft., folders 1-6.

This series consists of scattered items related to Paul Quattlebaum's career as a cadet at Clemson, 1903-1907. It contains correspondence with his parents and sister and material primarily related to the Calhoun Literary Society and the Clemson College YMCA. The family correspondence details life at Clemson as well as family activities. The Calhoun Literary Society material includes its constitution and by-laws, correspondence related to the organization's activities, and speeches which Quattlebaum prepared for debate. The YMCA material includes correspondence to Quattlebaum in his capacity as a member of this organization and printed programs, announcements, and other items. There is also a notebook used by Quattlebaum for a civil engineering course in surveying.

QUATTLEBAUM LIGHT AND ICE COMPANY. 1904-1940, 1 cu. ft., folders 1-35.

The Quattlebaum Light and Ice Company series consists of the reference files and correspondence of the electrical power company founded by Paul Quattlebaum. The files are arranged alphabetically by customer or supplier; the internal organization of each folder is chronological. This series documents early efforts to provide commercial and residential electric service in South Carolina.

Established in Conway, South Carolina in 1915, the Quattlebaum Light and Ice Company evolved from two earlier family enterprises, the Conway Light and Power Company (1907) and the Quattlebaum Ice Company (1912). The company remained under control of the Quattlebaum family until it was sold to the General Water Works and Electric Corporation of Fort Worth, Texas, in 1929. This series provides evidence of day-to-day transactions with customers and suppliers, including the sale of light and power service, domestic coal sales, ice sales, and house wiring service. Financial records such as audit reports and tax statements are also included in this series. There is also some correspondence during the 1920's concerning the development of the Santee-Cooper power project.

PERSONAL SERIES. 1907-1963, 4.5 cu. ft., folders 1-168.

The Personal Series holds correspondence which details Paul Quattlebaum's business, family, civic, church, and avocational interests. The papers are arranged alphabetically by subject or correspondent. Within each folder the organization is chronological.

The series contains private letters from Quattlebaum's senatorial years (1935-1944) and documents fully his life from 1945 to 1964. Included in this material are Quattlebaum's activities as civic club officer, trustee of Queen's College, Charlotte, N. C., and Ruling Elder of Kingston Presbyterian Church in Conway, S. C. Although he retired from public life in 1945, Quattlebaum retained an avid interest in state and national politics, and kept up a lively correspondence with his former colleagues. He also communicated regularly with various government officials, genealogists, family members, and myriad acquaintances. Prominent correspondents include Leonardo Andrea, Edgar A. Brown, James F. Byrnes, James H. Hammond, William P. Jacobs, Olin D. Johnston, J. C. Littlejohn, Kenneth Lynch, John C. McMillan, Burnet R. Maybank, Robert F. Poole, Frank A. Thompson, J. Strom Thurmond, and E. Craig Wall. Letters from Littlejohn and Poole are located in the Clemson College folders, and the Lynch correspondence is filed under Medical College of South Carolina.

SENATE SERIES. 1936-1945, 6 cu. ft., folders 1-212.

This series contains correspondence, memoranda, and reports pertaining to Paul Quattlebaum's career in the South Carolina Senate. The files are organized alphabetically by subject and/or correspondent. The internal arrangement of each folder is chronological. Documents relating to state agencies are located alphabetically under "South Carolina"; e.g., material on the State Public Service Commission is found in a folder entitled "S. C. State Public Service Commission."

Paul Quattlebaum entered the Senate in the summer of 1935 to fill out the unexpired term of deceased Horry Senator H. Kemper Cooke. Quattlebaum successfully stood for re-election for a full four-year term in 1936 and was subsequently returned to the Senate in 1940. He worked untiringly to enhance the Horry County highway network and took an active interest in agricultural affairs, the Medical College of South Carolina, the Santee-Cooper hydroelectric project, and the State Historical Commission. Conway attorney Frank A. Thompson defeated Quattlebaum in his third bid for re-election in the summer of 1944.

This series consists primarily of correspondence from constituents, Horry County public officials, state government personnel, and other senators. Notable correspondents include Solomon Blatt, Edgar A. Brown, James F. Byrnes, J. Emile Harley, Richard M. Jeffries, Olin D. Johnston, John L. McMillan, Burnet R. Maybank, Cotesworth P. Means, Ellison D. Smith, J. Strom Thurmond, George Bell Timmerman and Ransome J. Williams.

HORRY COUNTY CIVIL DEFENSE. 1941-1945, 1.5 cu. ft., folders 1-36.

This series is composed of correspondence, memoranda, and reports of the Horry County Council of Defense. State Senator Paul Quattlebaum chaired this group during World War II. The files are organized alphabetically by subject; the internal arrangement of each folder is chronological.

Organized in January, 1941, the Horry County Council of Defense helped coordinate the civilian war effort in that county. This series documents civil defense activities such as rationing, blackouts and shore lighting, disaster and evacuation plans, and the provision of emergency medical services. The series also contains a folder dealing with espionage surveillance, entitled "W. H. Schreck." Most of the memoranda are routine. G. Heyward Mahon, Director of the South Carolina Council of Defense, is Paul Quattlebaum's primary correspondent.
