Clemson University knows that the decision to apply to college is a major milestone in a student's life. As a counselor, you want the very best for them and want to guide them in the right direction for their bright future.

We have been a top-ranked public university for 13 straight years (U.S. News & World Report, 2021) and continue to challenge our students to do great things. We know students will be coming to you for answers to everything from how to apply to how to get financial aid, and we are here to help.

→ Give them the answers they need

Q: I want to apply. What's next?

The final deadline to submit an application for the Fall semester is May 1, with a priority deadline of December 1.

Students are required to apply for admission electronically. It's quick and easy to apply online, and Clemson has three ways to do it.

1. Apply directly through Clemson University and find tips, requirements and timelines about admission and acceptance at clemson.edu/admissions/undergraduate.
2. Students can also fill out the Coalition Application by visiting coalitionforcollegeaccess.org.
3. Clemson offers a third way to apply through Common App at commonapp.org.

Q: What gives me the best chance for acceptance to Clemson?

For first-year applicants, the following factors are considered for acceptance:

Academics

Clemson Tigers seek a challenge. The single most important factor we consider in making an admission decision is the high school record. We use the student's GPA and class standing as expressions of high school performance. Other consideration criteria include the types of courses taken and the student's pattern of performance throughout high school. The vast majority of our applicants present transcripts with college preparatory, honors and AP coursework. Most also have competitive GPAs.

Community Engagement

Clemson Tigers are engaged in their communities. Many people have hobbies and interests. Clemson Tigers have passions and service mindsets that guide them to leadership roles in clubs, organizations, sports teams, volunteer activities, the arts, academic clubs and part-time jobs. Let us know about how you led your team to a championship win, the research you've conducted or the job you've excelled in while maintaining an excellent GPA.

Background and Opportunities

Clemson Tigers come from a variety of backgrounds. We are looking for students who bring varied experiences, knowledge and talents to Clemson. For this reason, diversity, legacy status and first-generation status are considered when reviewing applications. We understand that not everyone has the same opportunities. When reviewing applications, your coursework, activities and curriculum are examined in the context of what is offered in your high school.

Your Unique Story

Clemson Tigers have unique stories to tell. We want to hear about the skills, experiences, challenges and triumphs that have shaped you. Upload an optional Personal Statement with your application to let us know if there are specific circumstances that impacted your academic performance for a specific period of time or in a particular class. We want to hear your story.

How to Apply to Clemson

1. Review important dates and deadlines (page 5).

2. Complete the application.

Students can submit their application through the Clemson Application, Coalition Application or the Common Application. No preference is given to any application in the admission review process.

3. Pay the application fee.

There is a $70 application fee. Clemson accepts all major credit cards. If a student cannot afford to pay the application fee, please encourage them to fill out the financial sections of the application completely. This information will determine if they meet the level of need we can approve by policy for a fee waiver. If a student has other hardships concerning the application fee, please encourage them to reach out to the Clemson University Admissions counselor for your state.

Clemson participates in the following need-based fee waivers: College Board, ACT and the National Association for College Admission Counseling (NACAC).

4. Request test scores be sent from The College Board or ACT (optional for 2021-2022 academic year).

For the 2021 admissions cycle, Clemson has adopted a test-optional policy. Applicants are not required to submit a standardized test score to be considered for admission to Clemson for the 2021-2022 academic year.

If a student chooses that test scores should be used, the scores must be submitted electronically by the respective testing agency. We will automatically update students' application files with any new test scores we receive by our application deadlines. Clemson does not require the SAT or ACT essay.

Students are asked to self-report test scores on the application, as well as have official scores sent by the testing agency. Clemson superscores both the ACT and SAT.

- Clemson's institutional code for the SAT is 5111.
- Clemson's institutional code for the ACT is 3842.

5. Submit an official transcript.

Official academic transcripts should be submitted through Parchment or via email to cuadmissions@clemson.edu.

Getting down to basics

Clemson University Honors College
The Honors College combines the strengths of a public, land-grant university with those of a highly selective small college. Here's a snapshot of the 2019 first-year honors class:

- 338 students
- 1483 average SAT
- 33 average ACT
- Top 5 percent: average high school class rank

Q: What are my required high school credits?
Most students accepted to Clemson have taken college preparatory courses in high school. We recommend that applicants for first-year admission complete the following courses:

English	4 credits
Mathematics	3 credits
Laboratory Science	3 credits
Foreign Language (same language)	3 credits *
Social Sciences.....	3 credits
Other	2 credits
Fine Arts.....	1 credit
Physical Education/ROTC.....	1 credit
* Students who have completed fewer than three credits of the same foreign language are encouraged to apply. Select majors may have additional requirements.

Q: How does Clemson evaluate standardized test scores (SAT or ACT)?
For the 2021 admissions cycle, Clemson has adopted a test-optional policy. Applicants are not required to submit a standardized test score to be considered for admission to Clemson for the 2021-2022 academic year.

If a student chooses that test scores should be used, the scores must be submitted electronically by the respective testing agency. We will automatically update your application file with any new test scores we receive by our application deadlines. Clemson does not require the SAT or ACT essay.

Clemson University super-scores both the SAT and the ACT. For the SAT, this means that the overall total SAT score will then be derived by taking the highest of the evidence-based reading and writing/ math scores.

According to The ACT, superscoring at Clemson means that we “consider a student’s highest ACT section (or subtest) scores regardless of test date. The super composite ACT score is calculated as the average of the best ACT English, Reading, Math, and Science subject scores and is used as one of multiple factors in admission and financial aid.” Beginning in September 2020, students who want test scores used are encouraged to send Clemson their ACT test scores utilizing the superscore reporting option.

Q: Do I have to interview with someone to be admitted?
Clemson does not require an interview for admission; however, we encourage students to go to clemson.edu/visit where they can discover a variety of visit opportunities, including a virtual tour, and different ways to connect with Clemson.

Q: What if I’m not sure of my major?
Applicants to Clemson are required to select a major on their application, but undeclared remains an option for students who are not yet sure what they want to study. The good news is we offer more than 80 cutting-edge degree programs. Check out clemson.edu/degrees to connect interests and aptitudes with a possible major and future career.

Q: Does Clemson accept AP credits?
Yes. Advanced Placement (AP) credit is awarded to students earning grades of 3, 4 or 5 on the College Board Examinations. Clemson University strongly endorses the AP program and consistently ranks among top colleges and universities in the nation in the number of students reporting AP grades.

Q: Does Clemson have a preference for AP, IB or dual-enrollment courses?
AP, IB and dual-enrollment offerings vary widely from school to school, so we look at your coursework in the context of what was offered at your high school. Future Clemson Tigers shine by accepting the challenge when AP, IB or dual-enrollment classes are offered in high school. Visit Transfer Course Equivalency to gauge how many of your AP, IB and dual-enrollment courses translate to Clemson credit.

Q: I’ve applied. When do I find out if I’ve been accepted?
Students who apply by December 1 and have all application materials on file by December 31 will receive a decision the week of February 15. Students who apply after December 1 may hear the week of February 15 or as soon as possible thereafter. Students who receive University scholarships may hear earlier than February 15 once the application file is complete.

- ### After Applying
- Here’s what students need to do after submitting their application.

We will provide updates on the status of students’ applications via email, but they can also view their application status and updates by visiting their Applicant Portal.

Students can review the most up-to-date information about their application, see missing and fulfilled checklist items, upload optional documents such as personal statements, register for virtual events and more through the Applicant Portal.
 - Submit Transcript
A high school transcript is required to complete your application file. Students should allow seven to 10 business days for the receipt of transcripts to be added to their application file.
 - Submit Standardized Test Scores (Optional)
For the 2021 admissions cycle, Clemson has adopted a test-optional policy. Applicants are not required to submit a standardized test score to be considered for admission to Clemson for the 2021-2022 academic year. However, if students would like their scores to be reviewed, they should request that they be sent directly from the testing agency and allow seven to 10 business days for them to be added to their application file.
 - Complete the FAFSA
The Free Application for Federal Student Aid \(FAFSA\) is available on October 1. The amount of need-related aid for which students are eligible is determined by the information they supply annually on the FAFSA. To be considered for need-based scholarships, applicants must also submit the FAFSA by January 2.
 - Explore Financial Aid Options
There is no separate application process for the majority of scholarships and aid at Clemson. Students who want to be considered for academic recruiting or diversity scholarships must apply for admission by December 1 and complete the admissions process by December 31.

Students should contact the Office of Student Financial Aid for additional information. Students will receive an email notification about their financial aid award package in the spring. If additional aid is needed, there are federal and private loan options or a Tuition Payment Plan available.
 - Need to edit an application?
Students who need to change their major, edit their personal information, change their application term or withdraw their application, should visit their Applicant Portal.

➤ Paths to Clemson

There are several paths for admission to Clemson apart from the traditional Fall admit acceptance. Please note that first-year Fall admits have until May 1 to choose whether or not to enroll and that students admitted for Fall may opt-in to the Summer term if they choose.

Incoming first-year students who apply by December 31 will receive an admission decision by mid-February. Incoming first-year students who apply after December 31 may receive a decision by mid-February or soon after, depending on the application submission date.

- Summer Admit — Tigertown Summer Bound

Some students are admitted to the Summer term through the Tigertown Summer Bound program. Students can indicate their interest in being considered for the Tigertown Summer Bound (TTSB) program on the application.

Tigertown Summer Bound (TTSB) allows students to enroll and make progress toward graduation by completing a challenging academic experience the summer before their first year. Students enroll in two courses to equal six credit hours of instruction. Courses are selected based on a variety of factors, including AP/IB/transfer/dual-enrollment credit, along with requirements for their major.

Students receive mentoring and academic coaching throughout the Summer term. They have until May 1 to choose whether or not to enroll.

- Bridge to Clemson

Students admitted to the Bridge to Clemson program will begin their Clemson experience by taking courses at Tri-County Technical College for their first year.

Bridge students live on Clemson's campus and have access to Clemson activities and services. Bridge students are assured a seamless transition to Clemson if academic expectations are met (completion of 30 credit hours with a 2.5 GPA).

Students have until May 1 to pay a deposit to commit to the Bridge program. There is no separate application for the Bridge program. Students are referred through the Clemson admissions process. Some students will also be offered a place on the Bridge to Clemson waitlist.

- Transferring

Transferring to Clemson can be a great option for students who may want to take some college-level courses at another two- or four-year institution. Note that if students attend any regionally accredited college after high school, they would apply as a transfer. If their only college coursework was taken while in high school and prior to graduation, they would apply as a first-year student. To learn more about how credits transfer to Clemson, visit the Transfer Course Equivalency List.
