Course-Specific Services

Peer-Assisted Learning (PAL)

Service Description

Collaborative and structured group study sessions facilitated by a peer leader who successfully completed the course. PAL leaders offer tips for success and provide opportunities for you to practice problems and ask questions in a supportive environment. PAL sessions are held weekly for 15+ foundational courses in engineering, math, science and accounting.

Next Steps

- Look out for emails and Canvas announcements from a PAL leader
- Access the daily session schedules by selecting "Tutoring and PAL" at the top of the page or go to: https://clemson.instructure.com/courses/230819/pages/pal-supported-courses
- Attend any session for your course that works with your schedule
- Be proactive! Start attending sessions early in the semester and return often

Tutoring

Service Description

Individual and small group appointments facilitated by a peer tutor who has successfully completed the course. During a tutoring session, you can ask topical questions and work with a tutor on specific course concepts and material while discussing personalized and effective study strategies. Tutoring sessions are offered throughout the week for around 50 courses. Additionally, Study Skills tutoring sessions allow students to work collaboratively with a tutor to brainstorm effective learning approaches for any course.

Next Steps

- View the courses supported by tutoring sessions by selecting "Tutoring and PAL" at the top of the page or go to: https://clemson.instructure.com/courses/230819/pages/asc-tutoring-supported-courses
- The tutoring schedule has instructions on scheduling an appointment for both in-person and virtual tutoring sessions through CU Navigate
- After setting up your appointment, check your email and complete the pre-appointment question for your tutor to tailor the session to your needs
- Bring your notes and relevant study materials to the session to make the most of your time
- Be proactive! Start attending sessions early in the semester and return often
