About Jeannie

We are proud to welcome Jeannie Sanders to Clemson University! From Rock Hill, SC, Jeannie is an administrative coordinator in the biological sciences department. As a graduate of Clemson, Jeannie is thrilled to return to the university as a staff member. She recently moved to Clemson with her husband and daughter. Jeannie earned her bachelor's degree in psychology from Clemson in 1997 before earning her MBA from Gardner-Webb University. Jeannie worked for Heyward, Inc. for more than 18 years in various positions, most recently in human resources and marketing. "It has been a dream of mine to come back, and I was fortunate enough to be able to follow that dream," said Jeannie of her return to the Clemson Family. We are so excited to welcome you, Jeannie!

About Benjamin

Next, we would like to welcome Benjamin Paulsen, the new director of player development for Clemson's baseball team! A Georgia native currently living in Statesboro, GA, Benjamin is moving to Clemson with his wife, Kendall, and their dog, Chewbacca. Benjamin played baseball at Clemson from 2007 to 2009. After playing nine professional seasons with the Colorado Rockies and the Minnesota Twins, Benjamin took advantage of the Tiger Trust program to finish his undergraduate degree at Clemson while serving as a student assistant coach for the baseball team. Benjamin graduated in April 2018 with a degree in business management and says it was a "perfect fit to come back and be at Clemson." In his free time, Benjamin enjoys hunting, hiking, watching movies and traveling. Benjamin is excited for this new chapter of his career. "Coming back to one of my favorite places and being part of the Clemson Family is wonderful!" Welcome, Benjamin!
