Dear Clemson Families,

On behalf of the Clemson Family Ambassador Board (CFAB), I want to welcome you to the start of your journey as the family of a Clemson student. My name is Robin Stringer, and I am Chair of CFAB, a working board of parent volunteers. My husband Will ('88) and I have four children: Natalie ('18), Nina ('20), Nella ('23) and Wes, a rising junior.

Like us, Clemson is a family tradition for many of you. Clemson alums, be prepared to be amazed! This is the Clemson you love and remember, and it is so much more! For those of you new to Clemson, you will learn about traditions, history, and vision. Prepare to fall in love with these hills, or at least become a fan of all that is offered no matter where you call home.

Clemson University has a rich history of tradition, innovation, and service, receiving numerous national and international accolades. However, what Clemson is counts most: student-centered, family-focused, growing, responding, and changing to meet the needs of students today and in the future.

I encourage you to visit your student during the school year. Clemson offers two specific opportunities: Fall Family Weekend in September and Spring Family Weekend in April. During your visit, take time to stroll across campus, listening to the melody of the carillon bells. Look for the Samuel J. Cadden Chapel or pay your respects at the historic Woodland Cemetery. Be sure to get a scoop or two of Clemson’s world-renown student-made ice cream at the ’55 Exchange in Hendrix Student Center. Absolutely watch the sunset! Clemson sunsets are truly magical.

Keep this calendar as a resource to refer to throughout the year. Designed for families, it contains both important dates, such as exams and holiday breaks, as well as tips to best support your student throughout the year as they navigate college life at Clemson.

In addition to helping you support your student, we want to help you stay connected as a family member as well! While there are many ways to get plugged in, I would certainly recommend volunteering as a Clemson Family Ambassador Board member. We are a group of family members who love Clemson and aim to help students and families thrive through our service alongside the Division of Student Affairs. Our application process for new members opens in late fall each year and closes in January. Please reach out to me if you would like to know more!

We celebrate all things Clemson when we say GO TIGERS! Now that you are part of the family, do not be shy to share a “Go Tigers!” greeting here and abroad. You carry a little bit of Clemson wherever you go.

Reach out to us if you have any questions at cutamilies@clemson.edu or by calling the Center for Student Leadership and Engagement at 864.656.0515.

Again, welcome to the Clemson Family! We are so glad you are here! All my best and GO TIGERS!!

Robin D. Stringer, Chair
Clemson Family Ambassador Board 2024-25
Tips

The start to the school year has begun! Help your student(s) set up for success as they start their journey at Clemson by encouraging them to attend Welcome Week events to meet new people and prepare for the start of classes. There are a variety of events, including Tiger Prowl, to connect with other students, staff members, and the local community. Tiger Prowl is a great first step to getting involved at Clemson!

Remind your student(s) they have a resource in Orientation Ambassadors and Welcome Week Leaders, current student leaders who can help guide them through these early days. Parents and family members—be sure to stay connected as well! Register through the Clemson Parent and Family Experience Portal to receive pertinent information as a member of the Clemson Family at clemson.edu/studentaffairs/get-involved/csle/family-programs/events.html. Through e-newsletters, email updates and post notifications, the portal helps stay informed about campus policies, community events, and ways to best support your student(s) throughout the year.

Fall Family Weekend takes place in September and is a great way to visit your student and enjoy Clemson! The weekend begins on a Friday afternoon with dinner and trivia! Saturday features a family tailgate and a home football game. The weekend ends on Sunday morning/afternoon with a farewell family brunch. Consider registering via clemson.edu/studentaffairs/get-involved/csle/family-programs/events.html.

Tips

Academics can look and feel different from high school to college. Classes often require fewer assignments, which may impact grades more significantly. Remind your student(s) of the resources available, such as those that are provided by the Academic Success Center.

Clemson also provides a free, evening transit service on campus seven days a week. The hours are Sunday-Thursday from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. and Friday-Saturday 6 p.m. to 3 a.m.

Tiger Transit service can be requested via the my.Clemson app or by calling 864-656-3333.

Cooper Library is open from 7 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday-Thursday and 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday. Cooper Library is open from 10 a.m. -6 p.m. on Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 2 a.m. on Sunday. Students should check the Clemson Libraries social media accounts or website at libraries.clemson.edu/visit/hours/ during holidays and school closures because hours may vary. Students can check out a study room or use one of the other comfortable study spaces available.

Additional information regarding the 2024-2025 University Housing & Dining sign-up process will be sent via email this month about on campus housing options. This initiative, which begins in October, will include key dates along with step by step instructions on how to sign up.

The Paw Pantry is a community wide movement to reduce food insecurity and promote well-being at Clemson. Students can always donate, volunteer and access these resources. Learn more at clemson.edu/studentaffairs/get-involved/csu/paw-pantry.html.

Tips

It is common for students to experience increased anxiety and emotional changes as a result of new relationships, class assignments, and the newfound independence that comes with college. Encourage your student(s) to work with their Residential Community Mentor (RCM) to resolve conflicts and seek help when they need it. Talk to your student(s) about their emotions and learn about mental health and Clemson resources by visiting clemson.edu/studentaffairs/find-support/shs/resources/mental-health.

Flu season begins in October and with the general spread of germs, it’s important to stay healthy. Vaccinations and COVID tests are available at Redfern Health Center. It is important to encourage your student(s) to wash hands, to stay home when sick, and to test before spending time with immunocompromised individuals, especially during flu season.

If your student(s) plans to move off-campus, make sure they read the terms of their lease carefully before signing. They should also start securing a storage space for their belongings if their new lease does not begin when their current one ends.

The Center for Career and Professional Development offers a variety of internship and co-op experiences to develop skills outside the classroom. The UPIC program places students with University faculty and staff in an on-campus position. Spring UPIC positions will be posted on ClemsonJobLink in mid-October.

Tips

November is a great time to practice gratitude. Remind your student(s) how proud you are of the work they are accomplishing and give thanks for the opportunities that lie ahead!

As finals approach, encourage your student(s) to utilize the Academic Success Center for tutoring services or other support. Remind your student(s) to continue healthy habits of sleep, eating well and prioritizing tasks. To learn more visit clemson.edu/studentaffairs/find-support/shs/divisions/healthy-campus/well-being.html. College can take its toll on a student’s mental health, but there are many resources available, including Counseling and Psychological Services, Alcohol and Other Drugs Counseling: Assessment, Choices, Treatment and Transitions (ACTT), eating disorder specific medical care, Relationship and Sexual Violence Counseling (CU CARES), and individual or group therapy.

Become familiar with the academic calendar and use it to guide conversations with your student(s) about their classes as they should have a good gauge on how they are doing with their studies.

As course registration begins for the spring semester, ask your student(s) if they are considering a Creative Inquiry course or if studying abroad is an option. These are great opportunities to enhance their learning.

Tips

If your student(s) is unsure what major they’d like to declare, encourage them to meet with a career counselor at the Center for Career and Professional Development to take interest inventories and to discover what majors may align with their passions and skills.

When leaving campus for home, it is crucial that students unplug all appliances, turn off lights, and lock the door to their residence hall room, apartment or home. If your student(s) is living on campus, encourage them to follow move out procedures communicated by their residential community mentor.

Many times, going home for break is the first time students and families spend significant time together after being apart. Consider taking time to talk through what new expectations you may have of each other as you readjust to sharing a space again.

Final grades are released towards the end of December. Be sure to remember while grades are not sent directly to families, your student(s) can access them on their iRoar accounts. This is often a good time to encourage your student(s) to reevaluate or reestablish study and time management habits in preparation for the semester ahead.

Tips

Now is the time to consider submitting the 2024-2025 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The FAFSA must be completed annually to secure aid for the next academic year. It is recommended to complete the FAFSA soon after January 1 to ensure the maximum award. The deadline to submit your FAFSA is June 30, 2025.

There are a variety of Spring Break opportunities available to Clemson students. If your student(s) is looking for a unique experience, have them check out one of the various seven day Alternative Break Programs, run out of the Center for Student Leadership and Engagement, or a trip with Clemson Outdoor Recreation and Education (CORE).

The Academic Success Center offers a variety of great workshops and resources to help students start off strong at the beginning of the semester. Check out clemson.edu/asc/workshops for a full list of options.

Encourage your student(s) to embrace their individuality. Recognize that college is a time for them to interact with and learn from people with different perspectives.

Tips

February is Financial Aid Awareness Month, so make sure to check the Financial Aid department website, clemson.edu/financial-aid, and FAFSA.com for all of the tips and tricks for tuition and fees!

Black History Month events begin in February. Encourage your student(s) to attend and participate in the vast array of activities during the annual celebration month. The Harvey and Lucinda Gantt Multicultural Center, in addition to several student organizations, will host a multitude of events encouraging students to learn more and celebrate black culture. You can learn more at clemson.edu/centers-institutes/gantt.

Spring Family Weekend typically takes place in mid-April and offers a great opportunity to come experience campus with your student(s). Be on the lookout for more information by ensuring you are signed up for the Clemson Parent and Family Experience portal, where information and updates will be posted.

If your student(s) is unsure of a class, talk to them about getting help before it’s too late. There are tutors, workshops, group student sessions, and much more available to them.

Tips

Spring Break is here. While your student(s) takes some time off from school, encourage them to be safe and responsible. Learn more about health and wellness on campus at clemson.edu/studentaffairs/find-support/shs/divisions/healthycampus.

March is a busy time for students with midterms, Spring Break, and organizations in full swing. Remind your student(s) to plan ahead by staying on top of assignment grades through Canvas and check-in with professors if they need assistance.

Make plans to attend Spring Family Weekend! Schedule details, local lodging listings, and registration information can be found on the Clemson Parent and Family Experience portal.

As your student(s) begins to prepare for a job search, have them check out the options available at the Career Closet. Donated clothing may be available, which will enhance their professional look. Learn more at career.sites.clemson.edu/career_closet.php.

Finals are approaching in April. Encourage your student(s) to prepare well and avoid the temptation of misusing prescription drugs to help them concentrate. Remind your student(s) to get enough sleep, exercise, eat well, and prioritize tasks.

To learn more, visit clemson.edu/studentaffairs/find-support/shs/divisions/healthy-campus.

The Center for Career and Professional Development has many on-campus internships and employment opportunities available for students. Internships are often paid during the summer and provide an excellent way for students to gain experience in competitive positions.

Check out the summer class options offered to get ahead in your student(s)’s degree program.

Springtime is beautiful in Clemson. Encourage your student(s) to get outside and take advantage of the sunshine. Studying at the amphitheater, walking through the South Carolina Botanical Garden, or going on a hike are popular options with our students. These activities and more will be available to students and families at Spring Family Weekend.

Check your Clemson Parent and Family Experience account and the Center for Student Leadership and Engagement website at clemson.edu/studentaffairs/get-involved/cfle.

- April 5th to April 12th: Honors and Awards Week
- April 7th: Registration for Fall and Summer terms begins
- April 28th to April 30th: Final Exams
Tips

Congratulate your student(s) on their hard work and encourage them to enjoy time to de-stress.

Students are beginning to come home for the summer! If your student(s) lives on campus, remind them to start packing early, clean their spaces, and follow all move out procedures provided by their Residential Community Mentor (RCM).

2025 Fall Family Weekend will take place in September. Hotel rooms fill up quickly, so watch for local lodging listings and registration information on the Clemson Parent and Family Experience portal and at clemson.edu/studentaffairs/get-involved/csle/family-programs/events.html.

Please note you will not receive a copy of your student(s)’s grades per federal law (if your student(s) is over age 18). Minimum Cumulative Grade Point Ratio (MCGPR) requirements are based on a student’s credit load. Consult the Undergraduate Announcements for MCGPR requirements. Remind your student(s) to check their iRoar accounts to view final grades.

Students may have feelings of anxiety or questions going home for the summer. Similar to winter break, summer is a time when families spend significant time together after being apart, adopting new routines and establishing new boundaries. Consider talking about expectations as you readjust to sharing space again.

Tips

There are several sources of financial assistance available, such as grants, scholarships, and loans. Encourage your student(s) to apply for as many of these as possible — even small scholarships will help.

Ask your student(s) to review what resources they still need vs. what they thought they might need, e.g., appliances and streaming subscriptions. Discuss what could be eliminated and where budgets might be readjusted as they continue to learn how to navigate finances as a college student.

Is your student(s) around campus for the summer? This is a great time to enjoy the sunshine and be on the lake. Encourage them to rent a kayak, paddleboard, or canoe from CORE and get out on the water. There are also several opportunities for employment available on campus during the summer. Encourage your student to check out Clemson Job Link, career.sites.clemson.edu/clemsonjoblink, through the Center for Career and Professional Development to find a job or search for an internship.

If your student(s) is continuing in the fall, keep an eye out for financial aid package notifications to be released this month.

- Last day to apply for August graduation
- Long Summer Break
Tips

Before the school term begins, take advantage of this time to figure out what belongings your student(s) will need before moving to Clemson — especially if they are moving off-campus in the summer.

Fall Family Weekend typically takes place in September and offers you a great opportunity to come experience campus with your student(s). Be on the lookout for more information by ensuring you are signed up for the Clemson Parent and Family Experience portal, where information and updates will be posted.

Encourage your student(s) to reach out to their Orientation Ambassador or Welcome Week leader as they are able to share tips and tricks from their own experiences.

If your student(s) has taken a class at another institution during the summer, be sure the transcripts are sent to Clemson to ensure their academic records are up-to-date.

While it is quiet, this is a good time for you and your student(s) to review their housing contracts for the fall together. Make sure you both know when they can move in, what they can and cannot bring, when payments are due, etc.

Parking permits expire at the end of July. If your student(s) needs to renew their parking permit for the upcoming academic year, order it before returning to campus.
